ENLARGEMENT OF THE CAPITOL.—In our last number we expressed a hope that the President, in carrying out the law of Congress in relation to the enlargement of the Capitol, would, if possible, avoid interfering with the beauty, symmetry and harmony of our venerable Capitol—conceived by the great Washington, and executed by Thornton, Hallet, Hadfield, Hoban, Latrobe, Bulfinch, Andre, Franzoni, Jardella, Bonani, Mariani, Causici, and other artists of distinguished merit. We have since then pondered over the subject, and sought further information in regard to it, and the result has been to establish us more firmly in the desire we then expressed: that a proper respect for the judgment of our first President, and a just appreciation of the fair fame of the distinguished artists employed upon this noble structure, should forbid the destruction of its fair proportions, either by the addition of wings, or by an eastern extension, or by "gutting" the interior and mutilating the exterior. At the same time we expressed our preference for the President's last suggestions, of an entire new building for "THE SENATE," and one for "THE REPRESENTATIVES' HALL"—the former to be placed north of the Capitol, and the latter at the south, distant therefrom not less than fifty feet, and connected by low and subordinate galleries and corridors, so as to produce an appearance of individuality and distinctness in each structure, and not to attempt "to establish one grand massive structure" by making the space between the old and new buildings only twenty feet, as proposed by one of the architects. To construct the new buildings upon this plan would utterly destroy the fine proportions of the old building by making it too long for its height, and would likewise destroy the symmetry of the new buildings by the attachment of the old structure to them in the manner proposed.

In order to gain sufficient space for a suitable Representatives' Hall and surrounding galleries for the multitudes of visitors who will pour into Washington from all parts of the country to hear our distinguished orators on special occasions, it appears to us that the size of the interior of the south wing building for the Representatives should not be less than 150 in length by 150 feet breadth, which would produce an area of 22,500 superficial feet; from which will be deducted 11,250 square feet, occupied by desks, seats, aisles, lobbies, &c.; and the remaining area, 11,250 feet, being divided by nine, the number of square feet which each person will occupy shows that the hall and galleries will not comfortably seat more than 1250 persons, including members, officers and visitors. These dimensions should in truth be doubled, in order to meet the increasing demands of our rapidly increasing population; but this cannot be done without producing disproportion between the wings and centre building. The Senate wing must be as large as the House wing, to produce uniformity. Fortunately the site is sufficiently large without purchasing more ground, being upwards of 1500 feet wide, as we are informed.

CARPENTER'S WAGES IN PHILADELPHIA.—The journeymen house-carpenters have been on a strike for five weeks—struggling for an advance of twenty-five cents per day. They have not been paid their full wages at the end of the week, not more than five dollars being given to each journeyman weekly, the balance remaining in the "bosses' possession, and in too many instances, says a writer in the Ledger, "it is never paid at all, and there have been cases in which journeymen house-carpenters have been discharged for simply asking for their full wages." This is a sad state of affairs, truly, but we hope it is now near its end. The writer whom we quote goes on to state that "an organization is being commenced, which will give the journeymen the entire trade of Philadelphia city and county. A carpenter's shop belonging to the journeymen themselves has been established, and to it they refer builders, architects, owners of property, and others who may want work done." We sincerely hope they may be aided in this just and honorable enterprise by the working-men of this and other cities. The prosperity of our country is dependent upon the just reward of labor, and this can never be obtained but by the concerted action of the laborers themselves. We are all interested in this thing of making a day's labor represent the largest possible amount of property, and they who do not approve of such a thing can take their only remedy, and do their own work. Capital, being the augmented product of labor, is as powerful as many laborers. Many laborers must therefore unite to defend themselves from its oppressions. There used to be some talk about "the criminality of combinations," but we hear nothing of the kind nowadays, and probably never shall any more. The sons of toil have been slow to learn their interests, but they are getting the lesson pretty well now, and will not again forget it.

MEDICAL PRESCRIPTIONS.—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger says that if physicians were compelled by law to write all their prescriptions in English, we should not so frequently hear of medical manslaughter.

We think so, too, and that responsibility should be made to rest upon any physician whose prescription should prove defective, or ambiguous to the plainest English scholar. It is the pride of enlightened medical men of the present times, that pedantry and mysticism are not needed to sustain them in the public esteem.

The Erie (Pa.) Commercial Advertiser flies at its masthead the name of Scott for the Presidency.

APPLETON'S MECHANICS' MAGAZINE AND ENGINEERS' JOURNAL, for June, has been presented to us by Messrs. Taylor & Maury. This is the sixth number of the first volume. It is edited by Julius W. Adams, C. E., and published by D. Appleton & Co., New York, at twenty-five cents a number. It is worthy the careful examination of every scientific man and intelligent mechanic.

It is stated that Senator Soule, of Louisiana, intends to sail for California in a short time.

ORGANIZATION OF THE CITY COUNCILS.—The Councils assembled to-day at 10 o'clock. The Board of Aldermen organized, by the re-election of its old officers, B. B. French, esq., President; W. B. Magruder, Vice-President, and E. J. Middleton, Secretary.

The Board of Common Council, also re-elected the officers of the last year: Silas H. Hill, President; and Richard Barry, Secretary. Jacob Kleiber was chosen messenger to the two Boards.

A joint resolution was offered in the Board of Common Council, by Mr. Pepper, directing the Mayor to call a meeting of the citizens, to make arrangements for the celebration of the approaching fourth of July: adopted. This resolution was laid on the table by the Board of Aldermen.

Mr. Wilson, of the Second Ward, introduced into the Board of Aldermen a bill appropriating $5000, to be expended by the Board of Health for cleansing gutters, &c.; which was read three times, and passed.

Mr. Morgan, of the Seventh Ward, submitted a resolution, asking the opinion of the Corporation Attorney as to whether Councils have any power to prevent the erection of a gas manufactory near the Capitol grounds, which would tend to the depreciation of the value of public and private property in that neighborhood: adopted.

The two Boards subsequently met in joint meeting, for the purpose of examining and counting the returns from the several wards of the votes for Collector, Register, and Surveyor, and the result was declared as follows:

Robert J. Roche was declared duly elected Collector; William J. McCormick, Register, and H. W. Ball, Surveyor of the city of Washington, for two years from July 1, 1851.

A joint resolution was passed in the Board of Aldermen, directing the publication of the Council proceedings in the American Telegraph.

Monday, June 30th, was fixed as the time for electing police magistrates.

STEAMER CHAMPION.—The new steamer Champion, Capt. Strandberg, arrived on Saturday evening from Washington city, and will tomorrow commence her regular trips to Annapolis and the Eastern Shore. The Champion was built at Washington at the ship-yard of Mr. George Page; Mr. Wm. Smith, of this city, being her engineer. Her engines are of one hundred horse power, and were built by Belknap, of New York. The Champion is a comfortable little boat, and looks as if she would be a fast one. The captain informs us that she runs sixteen miles on the Potomac in fifty-one minutes. She is not yet entirely completed, the finishing touches of the carpenter and the painter being yet required. — Baltimore Sun of this morning.

About one hundred and sixty feet long, twenty-four feet beam, eight feet hold, and three hundred and eleven tons capacity, is not so particularly little, good neighbors of the Sun. We admit the skill and taste of your mechanics to put on finishing touches, but at the same time assure you they cannot excel some more of the same sort among us. Mr. Wm. Smith and his sons have done themselves honor, and had it not been for Captain Page's desire to meet the demands of his Baltimore customer, we would have shown you embellishments and finishing touches your folks would have looked upon with admiration and delight.

But we have a beauty under way, of which you hear hereafter.

KOSCIUSKO CASE IN CHANCERY.—The argument in this important and interesting case was opened on Saturday last, by Major Tochan for the heirs, and he addressed the Court from 10 a. m. till 3 p. m., when the Court adjourned. It met again this morning at ten, to hear the further argument of Maj. T. He is still addressing the Court, (at 2 p. m.), and his argument has been throughout exceedingly interesting, is well arranged, and delivered in admirable style and taste. All who hear him, among them some of our best lawyers, express their admiration and surprise, that a foreigner could have acquired so profound a knowledge of our law and practice as he evinces by his argument in this case. Major T. said on Saturday, that the preliminary question which seems to require to be settled, before all others, was: "Have the complainants such interest in the estate of Gen. Kosciuszko as would entitle them to such a decree as is 'prayed for'?" In other words, "are they or is either of them the next of kin of Gen. Kosciuszko?" To prove the heirship of his clients, Maj. T. produced a decree of their pedigree, given on the 7th day of May, 1843, by the Court of Assembly of the Nobility of Grodno in Russia. After he had established the authenticity of that decree of pedigree, he proved by depositions, taken under a commission, that such decrees in Russia fall within the scope of decrees in rem, and bind upon all the world. He then proved by numerous English and American authorities, that such decrees have the same effect in England and in this country; and, founding his argument upon this law, he showed that here, as in Russia, the decree of pedigree of the heirs of Kosciuszko is conclusive evidence against all the world to prove their right and title in all civil cases having for their object the recovery of Kosciuszko's property, in whatever country it may be found. It was also shown, that Gen. Kosciuszko made four wills; that the first, in 1798, and 1806, are void, and have been revoked by his third will, of 1816; that by the fourth will, of 1817, he disposed of property, only therein specified, and the will of 1816 is also in full force.

Major Tochan also showed that Gen. Kosciuszko's domicile at the time of his death was in France, as had been conclusively shown by Hon. Reverdy Johnson before the jury in Armstrong's case, tried last week; and the validity of the will of 1816 was also made manifest—revoking all former wills, according to the law of Kosciuszko's domicile, and as such must take effect upon the personal property disposed of by it. The property disposed of neither by the will of 1816 nor 1817 must also descend to the heirs under the statutes of distribution in whatsoever country it may be found.

At the time our paper goes to press, Major Tochan is arguing that the securities of Col. Bonford, deceased, (administrator of Kosciuszko,) the present administrator of bonis non to that estate, and the administrator of Col. Bonford, are liable to account for the assets of Kosciuszko. We will hereafter notice the points of his argument in this respect. The case continues to excite great interest, and among the audience on Saturday and to-day we noticed several distinguished ladies.

Upon inquiry to-day we learn the Hon. Reverdy Johnson will reply to the defendant's counsel probably on Friday or Saturday, when it is expected that this protracted case will be submitted for the court's decision, which, however, will probably not be made at an early day.

THE LYNCHBURG TRAGEDY.—The death of Mr. Saunders was communicated through the papers of this morning. We are permitted to copy the following letter from a gentleman of high respectability in that town:

LYNCHBURG, June 5, 1851.

DEAR SIR: We are in the midst of a tremendous excitement. A rencontre took place this morning, just in front of the market-house, between James R. Saunders (the son of Doctor James Saunders) and A. W. C. Terry, the editor of the Virginian. Mr. Saunders made the attack by striking Mr. T. with a stick; whereupon Mr. T. drew a revolver, and fired—Mr. S. drawing one nearly at the same time—and three were exchanged, one shot taking effect upon the person of both parties; and, remarkably to tell, both were shot nearly in the identical same place upon the body—the ball entering just about one inch above the navel. The wounds are considered by the physicians to be mortal; neither can recover. This difficulty grew out of some strictures which appeared in the Virginian of this morning, upon the course of Dr. Saunders (the father of James R. Saunders) in the convention. I send you the Virginian of this morning by the same mail that conveys you this letter. In haste,

P. S.—Four o'clock, p. m.—Mr. T. and Mr. S. still linger, but there is little hope of their recovery. This is an awful and appalling occurrence—a most unfortunate and distressing circumstance. Our community is overwhelmed with sympathy for their families. In the death of these two gentlemen we shall lose two worthy and much respected citizens. Such is the state of feeling among the citizens generally, that business is almost suspended.

MASONIC.—The 24th of this month is the anniversary of St. John, and will as usual be celebrated by the Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons. We are informed that the brethren of this city, with others probably, will charter a steamboat and make an excursion to Mount Vernon. An oration will be pronounced, a sumptuous dinner prepared, and every arrangement made appropriate to the festive occasion.

THE PATENT OFFICE BUILDING.—We stated on Saturday last that the special commission, appointed at the instance of the Commissioner of Public Buildings, to examine into the adequacy of the external walls of the new portion of this building to sustain the arches of the gallery, made their report on that day, recommending additional strength to these walls.

IMPORTANT ARREST.—Benjamin F. Brown, a few years since a respectable and reputable officer in one of the public departments of the U. S. Government, and afterwards a candidate before the House of Representatives for the office of Doorkeeper, has been arrested and brought to this city, where he is now in jail, in default, we believe, of $20,000 bail, charged with a fraud committed upon the General Land Office by means of forgery.

THE STUDENT, a Family Miscellany and Monthly School Reader, is edited by N. A. Calkins, and published in New York by Fowler & Wells, to whom we are indebted for the June number. It is an instructive pamphlet.

"NOTES OF NEW MEXICO," by Henry Hardy, in the course of publication in the Washington News, are full of interest, and worthy a more permanent form than the columns of a newspaper offer. As soon as completed, they should be collated and put forth in book-form by some influential publishing house.

GORE HOME.—George Davis, about fifty years old, a baker by trade, was taken up in the streets this morning by Officer Handy, for being drunk and disorderly, and sent by Squire J. L. Smith to the familiar scenes of the workhouse. He was obfuscated and obstreperous; and, when they were about to fasten his hands, made some remark about tying him in a band-box. Yet the "ruffies" were put on his wrists.

INTERESTING TO THE AGITATED!—The great "Agitator" fancies his pursuits in this country so well, that he is to return and dwell among us. The New York Tribune says:

"George Thompson, M. P., according to an announcement in the Liberator, will take his departure for England in the steamer which leaves Boston on the 17th. We understand that he will resign his seat in Parliament and return to the United States in the fall—probably to take up his permanent residence here."

MR. WEBSTER.—A call for a mass meeting of the citizens of Massachusetts to nominate Daniel Webster for the Presidency is in circulation at Springfield.

MR. N. HAZEN, of Cincinnati, jeweller, was robbed last week of $6,000 worth of gold and silver watches.

GOLD HUNTERS.—We see it stated that hundreds of men are leaving the city of Gardiner, (Hallowell, Pittston, &c., in Maine, for the gold mines lately discovered in Somerset county, in that State.

A paragraph going the rounds of the English press gravely states that President Fillmore has determined to grant a charter to a company to run steamers from America to Galway.
